NOTTINGHAM PETEBOX IN FINAL

Be the first reader to comment on this story

comment on this story
print this story
Email this story to a friend

09:00 - 14 February 2008

City performer The Petebox has won another competition for his human beatbox show.

Beatboxing involves imitating drums, bass and creating melody using the mouth, lips, tongue, voice, nasal passage and throat.

The Petebox - real name Pete Samson - was featured in the Post last month after winning the national Channel Four T4 talent competition.

And this weekend, the 24-year-old won through to the national finals of the Vauxhall Beatbox Championships after a "ferocious" show at the Rescue Rooms.

The Petebox will now go through to the grand final in London on June 13.

Have your say...

Use these boxes to tell us what you think. Your comment will be published here within the next 10 minutes and possibly printed in the Evening Post as well. If you want your comment published in the Nottingham Evening Post please include your full name and location.
Please note: A preview page displaying your comment will appear after posting; it may take up to ten minutes for your post to go live on the site.

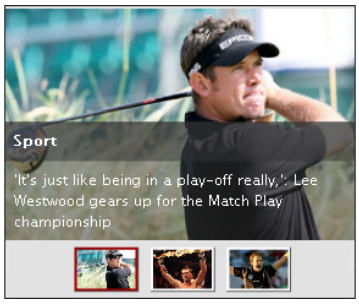
: How Story Comments works >

Your Name
Your Location
Your email address (Not for publication)

Please tick this box if you do not want someone from the newspaper or website to contact you via email for further comments.

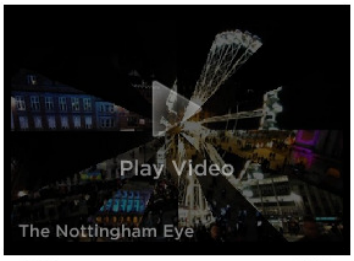
Comment(max. 4000 characters)

Submit Comment



HOT JOBS
Click here for 1000s of other jobs
Contract Administration Officer
Operations & Production Director
Receptionist

NEWS IN VIDEO



TODAY'S PAPER

Click on the images to see the latest front and back pages
Like what you see? Click here to buy your copy of the Evening Post

Make your Mum feel special